FESTIVAL OF ALL SAINTS PARISH - $$ REPORT

The profit for our 2018 Parish Festival is an impressive $26,444.15

Thanks to all who worked so hard to contribute to the success of this parish event. A very, very special thank you to our chairpersons, Scott Bartol and Andy Seaman. Our parish is blessed with their time, talents and endless supply of energy! How do they do it? Please be sure to thank them in person if you get the chance.

NEXT YEAR'S FESTIVAL

The planning and organization starts right away. Can you help? Do you have time and talent that you could share to ensure the continued success of the parish festival? This is an important parish event because it is our biggest fundraiser. But more importantly, it brings us together as a parish and community. Consider what you could do at the festival. People are needed for various jobs – from researching new ideas, organizing, advertising, calling volunteers, working at the dinner, set-up crew, clean-up crew and the list goes on. We are especially looking for someone, or a team of people, who can chair the chicken dinner. Call the parish office if you would like to put your name in the mix to help. We can guarantee you will have fun, laugh with old friends, make new friends and work hard.

Catholic Question Corner

Q: I am a lifelong Catholic, and I find myself asking the age-old question, “Why does God allow bad things to happen to innocent people?” An atheist said to me recently, “If your God is all-powerful and all-loving, as you say he is, he could stop any natural disaster with a mere thought. Why doesn’t he?”

A: The easiest answer to the atheist happens also to be the most honest one: We don’t know.

Moral evil, even, is easier to understand than natural disasters: St. Augustine, among others, argues that God allows our evil actions because to prevent them would undermine our freedom, and the benefit of free will outweighs all of its ill effects.

But disasters, such as earthquakes and hurricanes, are more difficult to explain. Clearly we believe that God could control them if he wanted – in Chapter 4 of Mark’s Gospel, after Jesus had calmed the waves, the apostles ask, “Who then is this whom even wind and sea obey?”

Catholic teaching would suggest that disharmony in nature is one of the consequences of original sin; this is the approach taken in No. 400 in the Catechism of the Catholic Church, which lists as one of the results of Adam’s fall that “harmony with creation is broken; visible creation has become alien and hostile to man.”

As Archbishop Thomas G. Wenski of Miami once explained, natural disasters “can suggest that our planet itself is ‘in rebellion’ against the original order of a loving Creator God.” I prefer to think, though, that a full explanation eludes us. My natural reason tells me that God exists: The rising of the sun each morning convinces me that a master planner is in charge. That conviction is ratified by my faith in the risen Jesus, whose core message was about a Father in heaven who loves me and wants my happiness.

On that solid basis, I’m content to deal for now with some ambiguity, like Job. (Job, remember, was beset by all manner of ill fortune, and when he demanded an explanation, God’s reply was, “Where were you when I founded the earth? (Jb 38:4). The German Jesuit theologian Father Karl Rahner was right: The incomprehensibility of suffering is part of the incomprehensibility of God himself.

We will have a parish food drive the weekends of July 14&15 and 21&22. A trailer will be located in the gathering space. Items especially needed are cereal, peanut butter, jelly, canned soups, pancake mix, pasta, spaghetti sauce, crackers, tuna, macaroni and cheese, canned pasta and paper products. Cash donations are especially appreciated and will be used to purchase meat and perishable items. Cash donations may be dropped off at the parish office or put in an envelope in the collection marked food pantry donation. Let's try to get the trailer filled!

RUMMAGE SALE THANK YOU - Our Parish Rummage Sale last weekend was a huge success. We made $3,700.00! A special thank you to Joanne Simon for organizing the sale, and to Carol Franklin for providing all the rummage sale & school workers with a fantastic spread of food all week. #### LOVE BEGINS HERE - A couple changes to note. . .

During the week of July 22nd-27th Love Begins Here will be at our Parish. During this time, 90 high schoolers and 30 Adults will call All Saints Parish and Berlin community their home. This summer we are one of 7 sites in the Madison Diocese that will help log over 17,000 hours of community service through Catholic youth. During that week, to accommodate the Love Begins Here program, there will be a couple adjustments to Mass and confession times. I hope by giving ample notice, our regular weekday Mass attendees will be able to adjust their schedule. Thank you for helping us minister to these young Catholics (and provide them the opportunity to minister to others). ~Fr. David
